

Operators can selectively hold, approve, or reject jobs. From the dashboard, job tickets can automatically be created, and jobs ready to be processed can be manually or automatically assigned to specific devices within the operation or assigned with the scheduling tool.

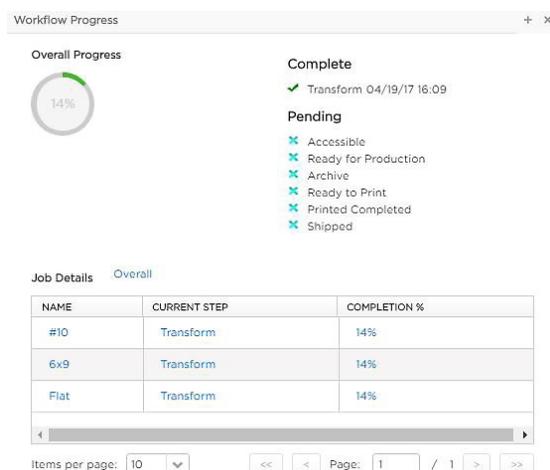

You can provide your customers with their own secure web dashboard that will allow them to submit, proof, approve, and monitor their jobs, delivering both the self-service and transparency sophisticated customers expect from their service providers.

Metrics and Reporting

Customizable metrics provide insights into key performance indicators such as operational processes, service level performance, financial performance, and more. The system data can be leveraged to automatically drive scheduled reports so that you can measure and assess results and provide valuable data-based analysis to your customers. Understanding how your operation is functioning from end-to-end is key to uncovering gaps and bottlenecks within the workflows. PRO Conductor provides production operations with the ability to track every job from start to finish at every stage of the workflow. Canned or custom reports can be created on-the-fly or scheduled, as well as viewed from the dashboard.
